Two Race Stories

Story 1: The Hare and the Tortoise

"I am the fastest animal around, and you are so slow!" Hare said to Tortoise. "Let's race to the big rock." Tortoise agreed.

Hare dashed ahead. Soon he was far in front. "I have lots of time," he said. He lay down for a nap under a tree.

Tortoise kept walking, one slow step at a time. He passed the sleeping Hare. When Hare woke up, Tortoise was already at the rock.

Story 2: The Deer and the Snail

Deer bragged that she was the fastest animal in the valley. Snail said, "I can beat you in a race along the river."

Before the race, Snail asked his snail cousins for help. They hid all along the path. Deer ran and ran. Each time she called, "Snail, where are you?" a snail ahead of her answered, "Here I am!"

At last, Deer was so tired that she gave up. Snail won with a clever trick.
