Reading Fluency Review

Grade 3 Reading Worksheet - Challenge Me

Name _____ Date _____

Circle the answer.

READ THIS FIRST

The Trail to Lookout Rock

Aunt Rosa parked the car at the bottom of Pine Ridge Trail. A wooden sign by the path said, "Lookout Rock — 2 miles. Stay on the trail."

"Two whole miles?" groaned Theo. "That's forever!"

"It's not forever," said his sister, Ana. "It's about one hour, if we keep a steady pace."

The trail began with a gentle slope that wound between tall pine trees. Birds chirped in the branches, and sunlight flickered through the leaves. Theo was out in front, marching quickly. Soon, though, the path grew steep and rocky. Theo slowed down... then slower... then he stopped completely.

"I need a break," he panted. His cheeks were red, and his legs felt as heavy as bricks.

Aunt Rosa handed him a water bottle. "Good idea," she said. "Hikers who rest a little go farther in the end."

Ana pulled the trail map from her backpack and unfolded it on a flat stump. She read the tiny words carefully. "It says the trail curves left at the creek," she said. "Then it climbs to the top."

At the creek, the wide path seemed to disappear. Theo pointed to a narrow trail on the right. "That way looks shorter!"

Ana shook her head. "Remember the sign? It said, 'Stay on the trail.' The map says left, not right."

Theo frowned, but he followed his sister across the stepping stones and up the last steep hill. Twenty minutes later, they stepped onto a wide, flat boulder. Below them, the whole valley stretched out — green fields, a silver lake, and tiny houses like toys.

"Whoa," Theo whispered. "This was worth every step."

Aunt Rosa unpacked sandwiches and apple slices. They sat together on the warm rock and enjoyed the view while a hawk circled high above them. On the way down, Theo didn't complain once. Instead, he hummed the whole time, and he asked, "When can we come back?"

1. Ana says, "It said, 'Stay on the trail.'" Whose words are inside the small quote marks?
   - the words Aunt Rosa said at the car
   - the words Theo said at the creek
   - the words printed on Ana's map
   - the words written on the trail sign

2. How should a reader read "Theo slowed down... then slower... then he stopped completely."?
   - Read it all at once with no pauses.
   - Slow down more at each pause, like Theo.
   - Shout the last word, like Theo is angry.
   - Speed up at each part, like a race.

3. "Two whole miles?" groaned Theo. How should a reader say Theo's words?
   in a proud, cheerful voice
   in a quiet, gentle voice
   in a soft, sleepy voice
   in a tired, complaining voice

4. Which words should get the most stress in "The map says left, not right."?
   says and not The and not map and says left and right

5. Where should a reader pause in this sentence?
   Birds chirped in the branches, / and sunlight flickered / through the leaves.
   Birds / chirped in the branches, and / sunlight flickered through / the leaves.
   Birds chirped in the / branches, and sunlight flickered through the / leaves.
   Birds chirped in / the branches, and sunlight / flickered through the leaves.

6. In "the whole valley stretched out — green fields," what does the dash tell the reader?
   Stop, because the story is over now.
   Speed up, because the next part is not important.
   Pause, then read the list of what they saw.
   Raise your voice, because a question is coming.

7. How can a reader break completely into parts?
   comp-let-ely co-mple-tely com-plete-ly compl-ete-ly

8. A reader says builder instead of boulder in paragraph 10. Which word fits, and why?
   boulder, because they stepped onto a big rock
   builder, because a worker was at the top
   border, because they reached a state line
   bolder, because Theo felt brave at the top

9. "Whoa," Theo whispered. Why does Theo whisper here?
   He is telling Ana a secret about the map.
   He thinks Aunt Rosa is asleep nearby.
   He is amazed by the beautiful view.
   He is upset the trail was so long.

10. Reread the end. How did Theo's feelings about the hike change?
    He went from scared to bored and sleepy.
    He liked the hike the same the whole time.
    He went from complaining to wanting to return.
    He went from happy to tired and grumpy.

Scan to get this marked free. No screen time for your child.
Print it · do it in pencil · scan it · PencilGo picks the next sheet.

Reading Fluency Review

Answer Key - Grade 3 Reading Worksheet - Challenge Me

Circle the answer.

READ THIS FIRST

The Trail to Lookout Rock

Aunt Rosa parked the car at the bottom of Pine Ridge Trail. A wooden sign by the path said, "Lookout Rock — 2 miles. Stay on the trail."

"Two whole miles?" groaned Theo. "That's forever!"

"It's not forever," said his sister, Ana. "It's about one hour, if we keep a steady pace."

The trail began with a gentle slope that wound between tall pine trees. Birds chirped in the branches, and sunlight flickered through the leaves. Theo was out in front, marching quickly. Soon, though, the path grew steep and rocky. Theo slowed down... then slower... then he stopped completely.

"I need a break," he panted. His cheeks were red, and his legs felt as heavy as bricks.

Aunt Rosa handed him a water bottle. "Good idea," she said. "Hikers who rest a little go farther in the end."

Ana pulled the trail map from her backpack and unfolded it on a flat stump. She read the tiny words carefully. "It says the trail curves left at the creek," she said. "Then it climbs to the top."

At the creek, the wide path seemed to disappear. Theo pointed to a narrow trail on the right. "That way looks shorter!"

Ana shook her head. "Remember the sign? It said, 'Stay on the trail.' The map says left, not right."

Theo frowned, but he followed his sister across the stepping stones and up the last steep hill. Twenty minutes later, they stepped onto a wide, flat boulder. Below them, the whole valley stretched out — green fields, a silver lake, and tiny houses like toys.

"Whoa," Theo whispered. "This was worth every step."

Aunt Rosa unpacked sandwiches and apple slices. They sat together on the warm rock and enjoyed the view while a hawk circled high above them. On the way down, Theo didn't complain once. Instead, he hummed the whole time, and he asked, "When can we come back?"

1. Ana says, "It said, 'Stay on the trail.'" Whose words are inside the small quote marks?
   - the words Aunt Rosa said at the car
   - the words Theo said at the creek
   - the words printed on Ana's map
   - the words written on the trail sign

2. How should a reader read "Theo slowed down... then slower... then he stopped completely."?
   - Read it all at once with no pauses.
   - Slow down more at each pause, like Theo.
   - Shout the last word, like Theo is angry.
   - Speed up at each part, like a race.

3. "Two whole miles?" groaned Theo. How should a reader say Theo's words?
   - in a proud, cheerful voice
   - in a quiet, gentle voice
   - in a soft, sleepy voice
   - in a tired, complaining voice

4. Which words should get the most stress in "The map says left, not right."?
says and not The and not map and says left and right

5. Where should a reader pause in this sentence?
Birds chirped in the branches, / and sunlight flickered / through the leaves.
Birds / chirped in the branches, and / sunlight flickered through / the leaves.
Birds chirped in the / branches, and sunlight flickered through the / leaves.
Birds chirped in / the branches, and sunlight / flickered through the leaves.

6. In "the whole valley stretched out — green fields," what does the dash tell the reader?
Stop, because the story is over now.
Speed up, because the next part is not important.
Pause, then read the list of what they saw.
Raise your voice, because a question is coming.

7. How can a reader break completely into parts?
comp-let-ely co-mple-tely com-plete-ly compl-ete-ly

8. A reader says builder instead of boulder in paragraph 10. Which word fits, and why?
boulder, because they stepped onto a big rock
builder, because a worker was at the top
border, because they reached a state line
bolder, because Theo felt brave at the top

9. "Whoa," Theo whispered. Why does Theo whisper here?
He is telling Ana a secret about the map.
He thinks Aunt Rosa is asleep nearby.
He is amazed by the beautiful view.
He is upset the trail was so long.

10. Reread the end. How did Theo's feelings about the hike change?
He went from scared to bored and sleepy.
He liked the hike the same the whole time.
He went from complaining to wanting to return.
He went from happy to tired and grumpy.