Rain on the Parade

Mia's town planned a parade for Saturday morning. Mia practiced her trumpet all week. On Saturday, dark clouds covered the sky and rain began to fall. The mayor said the parade would move into the school gym. Mia's band marched in a circle around the basketball court, and people clapped from the bleachers. It was louder inside, and everyone liked that.

1. How did the town solve the problem of the rain? Use the story.

2. Why do you think the parade was louder inside? Give a reason.

1. How did the town solve the problem of the rain? Use the story.

Model answer: The mayor moved the parade into the school gym, and the band marched around the basketball court. (Any full sentence that restates the question and uses the story is right.)

2. Why do you think the parade was louder inside? Give a reason.

Model answer: It was louder inside because the walls and roof keep the sound in. (Any full sentence that restates the question and uses the story is right.)
