The Broken Kite

Theo and his dad built a kite from sticks and red paper. At the park, the wind lifted it high, but then a gust tore a hole in the paper. Theo wanted to go home. His dad pulled a roll of tape from his pocket. Together they fixed the hole and sent the kite back into the sky. “It flies even better now,” said Theo.

1. Why did Theo want to go home? Use the story to tell.

2. What problem happened in the story, and how was it solved?

His dad pulled a roll of tape from his pocket. Together they fixed the hole and sent the kite back into the sky. “It flies even better now,” said Theo.

1. Why did Theo want to go home? Use the story to tell.

Model answer: He wanted to go home because the wind tore a hole in his kite. (Any full sentence that restates the question and uses the story is right.)

2. What problem happened in the story, and how was it solved?

Model answer: A gust tore a hole in the kite, and Theo and his dad fixed it with tape. (Any full sentence that restates the question and uses the story is right.)
